CSCI General Counsel Named Top Washington Lawyer

Brett Coffee Honored by Washington Business Journal for Excellence in the Legal Field

Springfield, Va., September 23, 2009 - Brett Coffee has again been recognized for his contributions to CSCI and the legal community. The Washington Business Journal recognized general counsel Coffee as the metro area's top in-house lawyer for 2009.

The Washington Business Journal announced the winners of their sixth annual 'Top Washington Lawyers' award on September 17, 2009 at The Fairmont Washington, DC. The awards are given to those members of the Washington, DC region's legal community who have demonstrated outstanding success in their field over the past 18 months covering sixteen categories. Coffee was recognized in the 'General Counsel' category for his work at CSCI and pro bono work with the SemperComm Foundation, as well as the community work that plays an important part in his life.

"Brett's record of service as a professional and in the community is exemplary," said Linda LaRoche, CEO of CSCI. "He has made a significant difference for CSCI and the service members whom we support, and we are very proud that his hard work is being recognized with these two awards. His skill as an attorney is extremely valuable to us at CSCI, and we are thrilled that the larger community shares our assessment that Brett is a top lawyer."

In addition, Coffee was named as a 2009 Rising Star by Virginia Super Lawyers Magazine and as a 'Leader in the Law' by Virginia Lawyers Weekly.
