Security

This team is composed of individuals who have had security experience in the military as well as the commercial area, including operations security, computer, physical, personnel security, and document management.

This security expertise includes all levels of classified information including special programs. The security team is highly motivated with diverse educational backgrounds, including university degrees, training acquired from military service schools, and experience gained from years of daily operations.

All CSCI System Administration team members go through an extensive screening process which includes a Department of Defense Single Scope Background Investigation.
